Our sleeving machines have been used worldwide in various industries for many different uses, including pharmaceutical, food and beverage, DIY, cosmetics and more. Sleeving offers a fantastic alternative to labelling, where self-adhesive labels are not suitable, with the added benefit of having 360-degree branding space on each product.

With a vast range of machine types and multiple add-on options available, this allows you to fully customise your build to suit your products' needs.

Our facilities & team of experienced professionals allow us to offer clients a comprehensive range of solutions that address all production line requirements. These encompass labelling, sleeving, robotic handling and conveyors, accommodating compact standalone units to complete, bespoke production lines.
